Analysis of the peer feedback:
With the tips my group members gave me it was clear that I needed to take more breaks and disperse the workload more.

Concerning the tops I have received it is clear that during my work.
I have good communication with plenty of updates for my work done and things I am working on.
And finally, that I am able to work fast thru the tasks and give good feedback towards others work.

Looking thru the criteria I notice that:
My collaboration is mostly good/excellent
I reach my deadlines in a timely manner and reach a lot of them.
Could do better with planning tools and make new tasks in the Trello and update them.
My communication is mostly clear and respectful.
I should address communication issues better and earlier.
That I contribute good in the meetings but my listening could be better.
And finally, that I contribute in a good work atmosphere and contribute in the productive work environment.

Personal reflection:
Personally I did find the communication better after the issue was spoken about.
I found that I did a lot of the work in the first week, I completed my tasks pretty fast and moved to the next right after.
During the online meetings I mostly said what work I've done and what I'm going to work on next.

Conclusion:

During

Goals for next project:
I would like to listen in better to the online meetings and address the problems I have more.

Tip:
"What advice would you give to your teammate for future projects"?
Try spreading out the workload more. Although I don't mind you taking more of the workload it still feels kind of bad if the project isn't finished at the end because someone took on too much work load. This didn't happen this time but talking from experience from previous projects this happens most times when someone takes on a big work load.

Top:
"Highlight the most valuable moment/effort of your peer during this project"
To follow up from my tip, you did finish everything you took up and communicated clearly and gave plenty of updates on your work.
